Prime Export Beeves Lower, and Butchers'

Stock Advances. SHEEP AND LAMBS FEW AND HIGHER

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, }

WEDNESDAY, September II, 1881 The run of cattle was the lightest for a number of weeks past, and fully 60 loads less than last week. Receipts on Monday were about 110 loads, and the total for the week has been about 120 loads, against 180 to 185 loads last week. In this week's supplies there were more good cattle in proportion to the total than for some weeks past. Two loads of prime steers from Ohio, consigned to Needy, and weighing over 1,600 pounds, appear to have been too good for this market. The shipper had his figures above 45c, and this was the highest price offered. It was reported that these primes were retailed at 414@414c.

Tidy Butcher Stock Higher.

S. B. Hedges & Co., in their circular sent out to customers to-day, reported good heavy cattle in full supply and 10@20c lower than last week, while tidy butcher stock and feeders are 10@20c higher, owing to supply being not over half that of last week. Many of the cattle coming to our markets of late are, in the language of commission men, "not fully They have the style and outside show, and, to the inexperienced eve are all that is desired. But, not having been grainfed last winter and spring, they fall to come up to standard in killing and cating. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and the same is true of roasts and steaks. The steer which was not gramfed last spring will give evidence of the fact when his best cuts get onto the on the fact when his best cuts get one the dinner table. A leading Liberty stockman said to-day: "We have been receiving a good deal of stock of late which have the style, but not the quality. All is not gold that gitters, and all nice-appearing beeves are "Grainfed cattle will mighty soon show their value to an experienced eye. Many that look well enough to a greenhorn make very poor meat. The shrinkage is great and quality of meat is poor. This class of cattle comes into tion with Texas and Colorado stock. and shippers are very often disappointed because of the failure of this class to bring the itside prices. Commission men receive no outside prices. Commission men receive no little cursing because of their failure to sell these grassfed cattle, which make a good show, at the same prices as those that are fully ripe. The shipper of this kind of stock will find at home a more fit subject for cursing than the commission man. Let him put more corn into his cattle, and he will have less cause for cursing. Western shippers last week were too high in their ideas of the value of export cattle and many such cattle consigned to this market were sent on East to fare worse. Buyers here for Eastern firms made better offers than were realized by sending the stock on, and this week offers for exing the stock on, and this week offers for ex-port cattle are not as good as last. It seems that the opportunities for European sulpment last week had been forestalled, and the dealers would have done better to have accepted offers made here last Monday week than to have sent cattle to Eastern markets. 'Ge further and fare worse' is a proverb that has been demon-strated to the satisfaction, or rather to the dis-comfort, of some Western cattlemen the past week."

Supply has been light all the week, and prices are 10 to 15c higher. Some dealers report a greater advance. The quality of sheep and lambs coming to the market is below standard. The same is true of hogs. The ma-jority of hogs offered are grassers and stubbers, in which there is heavy shrinkage. Those which are farthest traveled are most in de-mand, as they come from regions where corn abounds. Under ordinary circumstances home hogs are best, but corn is more of an item here than in Iowa and Kansas, and this fact is readily discovered in the quality of hogs shipped from those far Western States.

MARKETS BY WIRE.

Firmer Feeling in the Wheat Pit-Scarcity of No. 2 and Government Report Give the Bulls Backbone-All Options Close at Top Prices.

CHICAGO-There was a stubbornly firm wheat market within a 1/2 range to-day. The bulk of the trading up to noon in December was at and around 78% 278% above yesterday's closing quotation for that future. The opening range was from %c to %c higher. Initial sales of December were at 78%c. A little later the price was 78%c, and after a %c reaction it climbed back to that figure again. So far as public cables were concerned they told nothing but quiet markets on the other side at un-changed prices. Private ones were positively bearish in tone as a rule.

The scarcity of No. 2 wheat both in and outside of the elevators is beginning to attract general attention, and without doubt is a mild deterrent at present to free short selling. This and the Government report was what gave the market backbone to-day. The last crop bull let in indicates an aggregate yield of 485,000,-000 bushels, or 1,000,000 less than the August report. These figures on wheat are final until the Government survey of the situation in January. Another strong feature of the market to-day was the excellent consumptive demand. There were not only several expert orders here, but Ohio millers were buying both spot and futures. One foreign buying order for No. 2 red wheat could not be filled.

A liberal business was transacted between room traders, and there was larger buying for long account by Wall street parties than noted for some time next. The best prices of the day for some time past. The best prices of the day were realized just before the close, the latest quotation being practically at the top. Based on yesterday's closings, there was a net gain of %@34c. A quiet, firm feeling prevailed in the corn market, with trading only of moderate volume and confined principally to local operators. The better tone was attributed largely to receipts falling off some. The Government crop report showing a reduction of about 5 points from last month, or equivalent to about 90,000,000 also had a tendency to create some strength. The crop is now estimated at about 1,900,000,000 bushels. Cables were easier. The market here opened firm at yesterday's closing prices, was firm for a time, eased off a little, recovered and closed 1/401/4c better than yesterday.

lay. Oats ruled quiet but steady. In pore, trading in the near deliveries was light, but in May fair. There was no pressure to sell, but sufficient demand from several to sell, but sufficient demand from several large operators to support values. Trading was only moderately active. October delivery ruled easier, but railied slightly during the latter part of the session. January, on the other hand, ruled stronger and sold at a slight advance, which was fairly well supported.

A light trade was reported in lard and the feeling was easy. Prices favored buyers.
Only a moderate trade was reported in short ribs, and the feeling was comparatively steady. Prices exhibited very little change.

ABOUT THE BROKERS. Good Words for the People Who Live by Dabbling in Stocks.

THEIR METHODS OF OPERATING.

True to Their Clients Whose Interests They Do Their Best to Advance.

CHARACTER OF THE LOCAL EXCHANGE

Brokers, like poets and artists, are born, not made. Their business is of such a nature as to require the exercise of gifts that are beyond acquisition, in the ordinary sense of the word. A man may become a broker by practice and training, but the typical operators-the Goulds, the Vanderbilts and others who have cut a figure in Wall street-are products of nature.

The fellowing description of this useful class of citizens, and of their methods of doing business, is condensed from a recent publi-cation, the author being a graduate of the New York Stock Exchange. . . .

In the roll of members of the New York Stock Exchange, he says, as of every other bourse, are men true and honorable in the highest degree; men of education and culture, who would scorn to take undue advantage by the breadth of a hair; men generous to a fault, and possessing a large share of all the good qualities necessary to give roundness and per-fection to character. But the impression has gone abroad that as a body, and acting on the lines and instincts of their profession, brokers are like wolves, constantly seeking lambs to Nothing could be more unjust or further from the truth. They are necessary to the transaction of large and important interests. They hold the same relation to stocks that bankers do to money, and are quite as honorable in their dealings. Your banker under-takes the safe custody of your cash until you find an outlet for its investment. After you have bought something. Government bends, railroad shares, or like property, you can, with the assistance of your broker, in a very short time, turn your commodities again into money at the expense of what is really a very mod-erate commission, or the broker will both buy and sell for you. Whether you get as much or more than you paid for your stocks is your own concern. With that the broker has very little to do. He cannot make prices. He has, as a rule, nothing whatever to do with the management of the property which is in part represented by the scrip in your possession. own concern. With that the broker has very represented by the scrip in your possession. He cannot help the falling off of dividends; the decrease in traffic receipts; the growth of expenses, or the money lost by accidents or incompetent administration. For these eccentricities it would be as points to the second of tricities it would be as unjust to blame your broker as your banker for low rates of interest. He would only be too happy were all his clients to accumulate wealth and the value of their shares forever to advance. And it is not his fault that they do not.

Of course, as in all other activities of life, now and then a broker may be found whose standing is bad, but such an one receives very little comfort from his brethren, who scorn sharp practice of whatever kind, not only on moral ground, but because it brings discredit to the profession. Brokers, as well as bankers and merchants, sometimes come to grief; they over-leap themselves and fall on 'tother side-"go broke," and, when overtaken by the latter ca-lamity, their clients are co-sufferers. It is not fair or just that the big houses should have all the business—it should be distributed so as to give all a chance—but, inasmuch as no man would willingly entrust his savings for safekeeping in the possession of a bank of doubtful strength or standing, so a sensible person would not retain a broker to execute his com-missions without some assurance that his margin were in safe-keeping, and that his profits, if any, would be forthcoming when called for.

The Pittsburg Exchange, although not as prominent and influential as it ought to be, and will be, is an important factor in maintaining and expanding the business interests of the city, and it should be the aim of every citizen to lend it a helping hand, to give it countenance and support, to enable it to achieve its manifest destiny. It is controlled by men of estab-lished character. The brokers who daily congregate there to buy or sell for themselves or others, are in all respects the equals of any similar body of men in the country, active, energetic, intelligent, "stand four-square to every wind that blows," and the properties handled are among the best in the country.

La Noria and Wheeling Gas Take a Step Backward.

Business at the Stock Exchange yesterday was very slow, and what little was done was at concessions, both La Noria and Wheeling Gas selling off small fractions. Bank stocks showed a continuance of the broadening tendency previously noted. The tractions were dull and featureless. Switch and Signal moved up a trifle, closing offered at 23. There was a good demand for railroad stocks, but buyers and ellers were too far apart to accomplish anything.

It was noticeable that the inquiry extended over a wide range of properties, and that nothing was pressed for sale—indicating not only confidence in a revival of business, but in a higher range of values. Bids, offers and sales

RATES HARDENING.

Very Little Commercial Paper Taken Under Six Per Cent.

An average volume of business was transacted at the leading banks yesterday, but there were no new developments. According to several reports very little discounting is done eral reports very little discounting is done under 6 per cent, and some of it above, showing that while money is plenty the prospect of its full employment during the fall and winter has caused rates to harden.

Some scarcity of currency was reported, but as depositing was good, this trouble, it is expected, will be overcome in a day or two. One of the banks forwarded a big lot of worn and mutilated bills to Washington for redemption. The clearings were $2,063,663 69 and the balances $237,836 69.

New York Raids the Oil Market and Kills a Boom.

There was a buoyant feeling at the opening of the oil market yesterday, and it was thought the dollar line would be reached, if not crossed. to unload, and raided the market down to 98%. Buying here and in Oil City near the close turned the tide, and there was a rally to 98%, which proved to be the closing figure. There was considerable trading, but in small lots, no one having courage to attempt large blocks. The feeling at the windup was indicative of confidence. Tuesday's clearings were 560,000 barrels.

A broker remarked: "I am bullish, but am afraid to carry out my inclination. The way.

A broker remarked: "I am bullish, but am afraid to carry out my inclination. The market is too uncertain. If they could break it yesterday, the manipulators can do the same to-morrow or whenever they please. The only safe way to deal is to go for what is in sight." The other side is afraid to run up much of a short interest for pretty much the same reasons. So it may be said the market is on the razged edge.

DOWN AND UP.

Railroad Shares Drop a Triffe in the Forenoon, but Recover and Score Material Gains at the Close-More Life in gains were quickly wiped ont.

In this decline the North Pacifics took the lead, the story that a portion of the new loan lead, the story that a portion of the new loan was to be used to retire some of the preferred stock causing considerable weakness. The story met with an official denial, however, and the temper of the market again became strong, and before the end of the forenoon the losses had been generally recovered with something in addition. There were large transactions in Lackawanna, and the stock of an estate would come upon the market, but this was also denied, and that stock recovered with the rest of the list.

The appearance of some of the larger operators upon the bull side put new life into the speculation, and Michigan Central and Colorado Coal opened the advance during the forenoon, and later the whole list followed. The market finally closed active and strong at the best prices of the day. The entire active list, with but few exceptions, is materially higher. Tennessee Coal and Colorado Coal are up 2% cach, Michigan Central 1%, St. Paul and Missouri Facific 1% Louisville and Nashville 1%. Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis and Lake Eric and Western preferred 1% each, Richmond and West Point 1 per cent, and others fractional amounts. There was a little more life in the trusts, and sugar became specially strong, closing at a gain of 1%.

Railroad bonds were again fairly active, and the feature of the dealings was the continued buying of the Reading issues by the foreigners, the list contributing £10,000 and the £5188,000 to the day's total of $1,500,000. Fort Worth and Denver ists were also specially active and their sales reached $152,000. The market was strong almost throughout.

New York, September II.—The stock market was quiet and irregular during the forenous, but became more active and positively strong later in the day. The temper at the opening was better than during the past two days, and first prices were generally from ½ to ½ per cent higher, and a moderate buying movement in the absence of any pronounced pressure upon the list further advanced quotations in the early dealings small fractions. Dr. Shafer, one of the physicians of the Polypathic Medical Institute, at 429 Penn ave. Mr. C. V. Pulpress, of No. 48 Liberty street, Allegheny, had for a long time suffered from a weak, tired feeling, no ambition, pain across the small of his back and palpitation of the heart. His complexion was very sallow, and as the diseased condition of his kidneys from which he suffered further progressed, his stomach became involved. He had bloating, belching of gas and distress after eating. He lost flesh, his memory became poor and his mind became so affected that he could neither read or think, and was in constant fear of becoming insane. He often felt dizzy, so that everything seemed to be in a whirl, and he became so nervous as to entirely unfit him for any business. Having read in the papers that the physicians of the Polypathic Medical Institute make a specialty of kidney and urinary diseases he began treatment with them. His own words state the result: "This is to certify that I have been cured by the physicians of the Polypathic Medical Institute at 420 Penn avenue.
